She holds numerous certifications in the field of women's health and energetic healing. She has also been a featured speaker at the National Conference for Certified Nurse Midwives and the National Women's Health Nurse Practitioners Conference.

Hannah's head injury while assisting at a birth:

About fifteen years ago, Hannah suffered a head injury while delivering a baby as a result of a ceiling tile falling and hitting her on the head. Nothing in traditional medicine relieved her severe post concussion headaches, therefore, she was forced to walk outside the traditional medical model and venture into the path of holistic healing. This venture into holistic healing was an amazing journey for Hannah and now she holds numerous certifications in the field of energetic healing.

Hannah's brush with death during her own delivery:

Hannah Bajor hemorrhaged badly after her own second delivery and in choosing to change her death exit time and stay alive, Hannah was given a chance to bring her healing work to the world. As time passed, Hannah was driven to take her midwifery skills, her intuitive ability, and her knowledge about the energy anatomy of pregnancy and her formula for increasing fertility on an international scale.

Hannah's healing practice:

She is now in great demand for her international one-on-one coaching telephone practice and workshops. Her coaching and workshops serve to heal and empower women experiencing infertility, pregnancy, birth, miscarriage, adoption, abortion and post partum depression. Hannah has an incredible ability to access all sorts of information about people.

Hannah's workshops:

Hannah Bajor can stand in front of a room and intuitively know the concerns and issues of the attendees. Her programs are tailored to what the group needs to hear and experience. Rarely will she follow a script as she is totally guided by spirit. Everyone attending Hannah's programs regardless of the topic is moved by how incredibly knowledgeable, wise and intuitively accurate she is.

Hannah's personality:

Hannah Bajor has an amazing presence about her. She is funny and serious all in one. She demonstrates great passion for life, making every program she offers to be well worth attending. She definitely lives by the principles she teaches. She carries amazing mother energy and touches the hearts of many.
